SINGAPORE.

Land in the hands of private owners in Singapore is held direct from the Crown, either by lease or grant. The terms of the leases vary. A great portion of the land on which the town stands is held on building-leases for 99 years. The terms of the leases in the country are, for the most part, 99 and 999 years. A grant in a Statutory form is now the usual Crown title issued. This is prescribed by Ordinance 34 (Crown Lands.)

The “permits” formerly issued in anticipation of survey have all been called in and grants substituted for them. Certain Crown Reserves are held under annual licences. The quit-rent reserved in leases for lands in the country issued before October 15th, 1883, is 30 cents an acre; that on leases issued subsequent to that date varies according to advantages of soil and situation, but is in no case less than 40 cents an acre. In all leases issued since October 15th, 1883, a condition is inserted under which the rent is readjustable every thirty years. Since the passing of Ordinance No. 34 (Crown Lands) the only instrument of title is a Statutory Grant in perpetuity subject to a minimum quit-rent of 50 cents an acre readjustable every thirty years.

By Ordinance No. 64 (Foreshore) special powers are given to the Government with regard to leases of foreshore for periods not exceeding 100 years.

The following tabular statement shows the Revenue derived in Singapore from Land Rents in the years 1921 and 1922, respectively:—

Land in Penang and Province Wellesley is held of the Crown, as in Singapore, by grant or lease. The conditions of tenure vary according to the policy of the Government at the time the documents were issued. In Singapore eighteen and in Penang twenty different kinds of title are in the hands of the public. Unoccupied Crown land is obtainable on Statutory Grants as in Singapore and Statutory Grants are also being substituted for Permits and Expired Leases. Alienation of foreshore is subject to Ordinance I of 1901.

The rates of rent reserved in old leases vary in different localities.

The following table gives a comparative statement of the Revenue derived from Premia and Land Rents in Penang in the years 1921 and 1922, respectively:—

The tenure of land in the town of Malacca has remained unchanged since the days of Dutch rule. Possession is evidenced in many cases by documents of title in Dutch. Occupied land in the country is, in some cases, held either under grant or lease from the Crown, but for the most part according to customary tenure as defined by the Malacca Lands Ordinance. There is special legislation, Ordinance I of 1901, for alienation of foreshore.

Land is now obtainable without premium if held under customary tenure, and with premium and a moderate quit-rent if held under Statutory Grant.

The principal land revenue consists of rents on rubber, tapioca and gambier leases and of mukim assessment under customary tenure.

Appended is a comparative statement showing the revenue collected in Malacca in 1921 and 1922, respectively:—

Singapore	5,465½	2,846,317	262	There are no ships or large-sized craft employed in fishing at this Settlement except two motor-boats of about 20 tons each, employed as fish carriers and owned by Japanese. The native fishermen who never venture far out use only canoes and punts. The principal methods of fishing are by drag-nets and stationary catch-nets, fastened to stakes in deep water. Fishing is carried on solely for the purpose of meeting the demand for local consumption. There is no proper season, but fish are caught throughout the year. On account of the prevalence of N. E. Monsoon, however, from November to March, the markets are less supplied and prices rule higher. From April to October all kinds of fish are plentiful and to be bought at fair prices.

After this they are fixed up again for catching fish. (2) Outshore fishing stakes are never pulled up once they are fixed. The drag-nets which are made of rattan and attached to these stakes are repaired and replaced as the case may be. (3) Seine nets. (4) Drift nets. (5) Patani nets bear the name of the country from whence they first originated. They come to Penang and the Province during the N. E. Monsoon. During the S. W. Monsoon when the sea is boisterous here, they go back to Patani, Muar and Pangkor. (6) Pompangs or purse-nets are attached to ropes which are tied to poles and driven into the sea. They are made of twine and bamboo. (7) Unbaited hooks are used for catching big fish without scales such as shark and skate. (8) Baited hooks, rawa and siring (wading-nets) are exempt from registration. About ¼ of the fishing are carried out in the Colonial waters and ¾ in international waters, i.e., beyond the three-mile limit. This ¾ is confined to fishing by means of seine and drift nets and baited and unbaited hooks. All fishing by means of fishing stakes are carried in the Colonial waters. Fishing is carried on not for export but for local consumption. Even salted fish do not go beyond rubber estates which are in the Malay Peninsula. Fishing is carried out throughout the year and as the water is colder during the S. W. Monsoon season fish come nearer to the shore and spawning grounds and the catches are more plentiful than during the N. E. Monsoon season.
